Introduction

Conflict can be defined as a situation in which two or more people enter into opposition or disagreement because their positions, values, interests, aspirations, desires or needs are incompatible or, at least, are perceived as such. In order to understand conflict, it is important to consider that the emotions and feelings produced in different protagonists play a fundamental role.

Learn to intervene as a classroom mediator with the most useful educational tools available to professionals"

In order to improve coexistence in the classroom, it should be taken into account that there are several areas involved, distributed into different categories. The first includes the education center, teachers and students; the second, families and administration; and the third, the environment and society.

Action can be initiated in different areas: the education center and teaching staff can conduct interviews, assemblies and mediation with students, and also distribute pupils to avoid possible conflict. With students, work can be carried out through the figure of the assistant and mediator, by means of interviews and assemblies; in extreme cases, collaboration and coordination with the juvenile prosecutor's office may be sought. Families can schedule meetings with the center's tutors and counselors to follow up on the agreements reached, to be constantly updated on situations and measures taken with their children, and for any further meetings or actions required.

This program allows professionals in the field to increase their capacity for success; by enhancing their practice and performance, they will have a direct and positive impact on educational relations and on the system, thereby benefiting the community as a whole.

This Postgraduate Certificate addresses classroom mediation and conflict resolution from the teacher's perspective. There are conflicts where one has to mediate, and there are situations where one is part of the conflict, or others where one has originated the conflict.

When a teacher or other person tries to resolve a conflict, they must be familiar with the persons involved, the protagonist of the issue, the existing relationship between these members, as well as what has occurred and the feelings of those involved.

Methodology

This training program offers a different way of learning. Our methodology uses a cyclical learning approach: Relearning.

This teaching system is used, for example, in the most prestigious medical schools in the world, and major publications such as the New England Journal of Medicine have considered it to be one of the most effective.

“

Discover Relearning, a system that abandons conventional linear learning, to take you through cyclical teaching systems: a way of learning that has proven to be extremely effective, especially in subjects that require memorization"

At TECH Education School we use the Case Method

In a given situation, what should a professional do? Throughout the program students will be presented with multiple simulated cases based on real situations, where they will have to investigate, establish hypotheses and, finally, resolve the situation. There is an abundance of scientific evidence on the effectiveness of the method.

With TECH, educators can experience a learning methodology that is shaking the foundations of traditional universities around the world.

It is a technique that develops critical skills and prepares educators to make decisions, defend their arguments, and contrast opinions.

Did you know that this method was developed in 1912, at Harvard, for law students? The case method consisted of presenting students with real-life, complex situations for them to make decisions and justify their decisions on how to solve them. In 1924, Harvard adopted it as a standard teaching method”

The effectiveness of the method is justified by four fundamental achievements:

1. Educators who follow this method not only grasp concepts, but also develop their mental capacity, by evaluating real situations and applying their knowledge.
2. The learning process is solidly focused on practical skills that allow educators to better integrate the knowledge into daily practice.
3. Ideas and concepts are understood more efficiently, given that the example situations are based on real-life teaching.
4. Students like to feel that the effort they put into their studies is worthwhile. This then translates into a greater interest in learning and more time dedicated to working on the course.

Relearning Methodology

At TECH we enhance the case method with the best 100% online teaching methodology available: Relearning.

Our University is the first in the world to combine case studies with a 100% online learning system based on repetition, combining a minimum of 8 different elements in each lesson, which represent a real revolution with respect to simply studying and analyzing cases.

Educators will learn through real cases and by solving complex situations in simulated learning environments. These simulations are developed using state-of-the-art software to facilitate immersive learning.

At the forefront of world teaching, the Relearning method has managed to improve the overall satisfaction levels of professionals who complete their studies, with respect to the quality indicators of the best online university (Columbia University).

With this methodology we have trained more than 85,000 educators with unprecedented success in all specialties. All this in a highly demanding environment, where the students have a strong socio-economic profile and an average age of 43.5 years.

Relearning will allow you to learn with less effort and better performance, involving you more in your specialization, developing a critical mindset, defending arguments, and contrasting opinions: a direct equation to success.

In our program, learning is not a linear process, but rather a spiral (learn, unlearn, forget, and re-learn). Therefore, we combine each of these elements concentrically.

The overall score obtained by our learning system is 8.01, according to the highest international standards.

This program offers the best educational material, prepared with professionals in mind:
