Introduction

Humanitarian action is one of the most recognized tasks of NGOs and other public and private organizations working in the field of international cooperation. This aid is essential in cases of extreme poverty or when countries suffer war or natural disasters, for example. With this program, we want to provide you with the most relevant resources in this field so that you can contribute to your knowledge as a teacher in the most disadvantaged regions of the world.

Humanitarian action is of great value in helping regions with extreme problems to recover and be able to continue their development in an autonomous manner”

Social and economic inequalities have led many regions to demand international aid to help them make further progress in their development. In addition, these communities are often hit by other problems, such as wars, attacks or natural disasters, for example, which further accentuate their differences with more developed countries and, therefore, the inequalities between different territories. In order to alleviate these differences as much as possible, humanitarian action is essential, especially in order to be able to transfer essential resources that are essential to maintain the health of the inhabitants.

This program combines basic knowledge in international development cooperation, tools that allow the development worker to seek to improve the performance of their work in those fields that people and communities demand, guide them to change and focus them on the present situation through the cooperation tools and resources. In this way, this program pays special attention to research methods in Humanitarian Action and International Law from a Gender Perspective and the methodologies needed to manage public policies and social change. It provides insight into the system and the evolution of cooperation, as well as the phenomenon of human mobility.

As a novel aspect, it introduces the student to the study of the instruments of cooperation and to the knowledge of the actors that make up the international cooperation scenario. It also allows to acquire competence in the handling of the most relevant international regulations in the field of cooperation, focusing on the gender perspective, with the aim of achieving a more egalitarian world in which men and women have the same rights.

Methodology

This training program offers a different way of learning. Our methodology uses a cyclical learning approach: Relearning.

This teaching system is used, for example, in the most prestigious medical schools in the world, and major publications such as the New England Journal of Medicine have considered it to be one of the most effective.

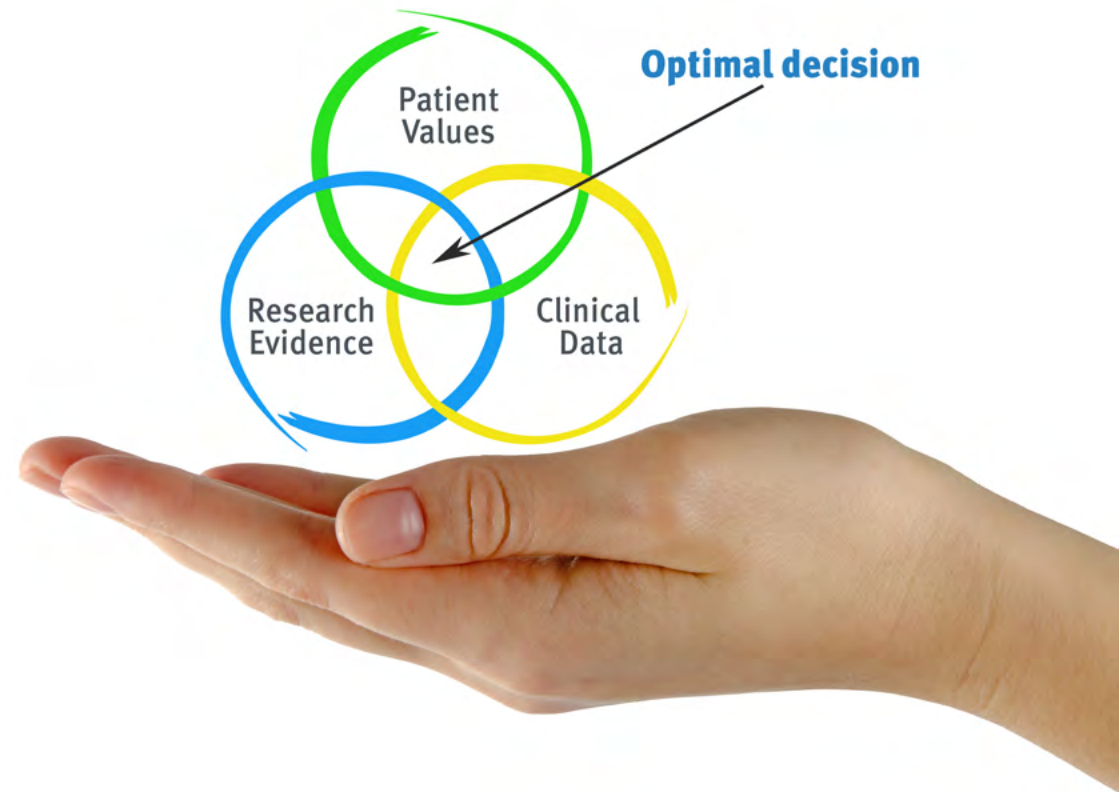

“

Discover Relearning, a system that abandons conventional linear learning, to take you through cyclical teaching systems: a way of learning that has proven to be extremely effective, especially in subjects that require memorization"

At TECH Education School we use the Case Method

In a given situation, what should a professional do? Throughout the program students will be presented with multiple simulated cases based on real situations, where they will have to investigate, establish hypotheses and, finally, resolve the situation. There is an abundance of scientific evidence on the effectiveness of the method.

With TECH, educators can experience a learning methodology that is shaking the foundations of traditional universities around the world.

It is a technique that develops critical skills and prepares educators to make decisions, defend their arguments, and contrast opinions.

Did you know that this method was developed in 1912, at Harvard, for law students? The case method consisted of presenting students with real-life, complex situations for them to make decisions and justify their decisions on how to solve them. In 1924, Harvard adopted it as a standard teaching method”

The effectiveness of the method is justified by four fundamental achievements:

1. Educators who follow this method not only grasp concepts, but also develop their mental capacity, by evaluating real situations and applying their knowledge.
2. The learning process is solidly focused on practical skills that allow educators to better integrate the knowledge into daily practice.
3. Ideas and concepts are understood more efficiently, given that the example situations are based on real-life teaching.
4. Students like to feel that the effort they put into their studies is worthwhile. This then translates into a greater interest in learning and more time dedicated to working on the course.

Relearning Methodology

At TECH we enhance the case method with the best 100% online teaching methodology available: Relearning.

Our University is the first in the world to combine case studies with a 100% online learning system based on repetition, combining a minimum of 8 different elements in each lesson, which represent a real revolution with respect to simply studying and analyzing cases.

Educators will learn through real cases and by solving complex situations in simulated learning environments. These simulations are developed using state-of-the-art software to facilitate immersive learning.

At the forefront of world teaching, the Relearning method has managed to improve the overall satisfaction levels of professionals who complete their studies, with respect to the quality indicators of the best online university (Columbia University).

With this methodology we have trained more than 85,000 educators with unprecedented success in all specialties. All this in a highly demanding environment, where the students have a strong socio-economic profile and an average age of 43.5 years.

Relearning will allow you to learn with less effort and better performance, involving you more in your specialization, developing a critical mindset, defending arguments, and contrasting opinions: a direct equation to success.

In our program, learning is not a linear process, but rather a spiral (learn, unlearn, forget, and re-learn). Therefore, we combine each of these elements concentrically.

The overall score obtained by our learning system is 8.01, according to the highest international standards.

This program offers the best educational material, prepared with professionals in mind:
