02

Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certificate?

In today's competitive world, speaking other languages is a key part of our modern culture, helping us to expand our knowledge and interact with people from other parts of the world, which helps us to learn about the traditions of other countries, establish friendships or conduct business.

However, simply knowing foreign languages is not enough in modern society.

Nowadays, you must have an official qualification that accredits and recognizes your proficiency in a given language. In fact, many schools, universities and companies only accept candidates who have an official qualification based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

The ability to communicate effectively in another language, and accredit it with an official CEFR qualification, is an essential requirement for your academic and professional development. TECH helps you achieve it with intensive CEFR training”

tech 10 | Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certification?

TECH Global University

The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is the only officially recognized and accredited system for assessing a student's level of proficiency. Although there are other certification systems, these come from private institutions and are, therefore, not officially valid. The CEFR establishes a single criterion to determine the difficulty of the courses and awards diplomas that are recognized throughout the European Union.

At TECH, we offer you the only intensive Language Course to obtain your official certificate based 100% on the CEFR, the only official system recognized and accepted throughout Europe.

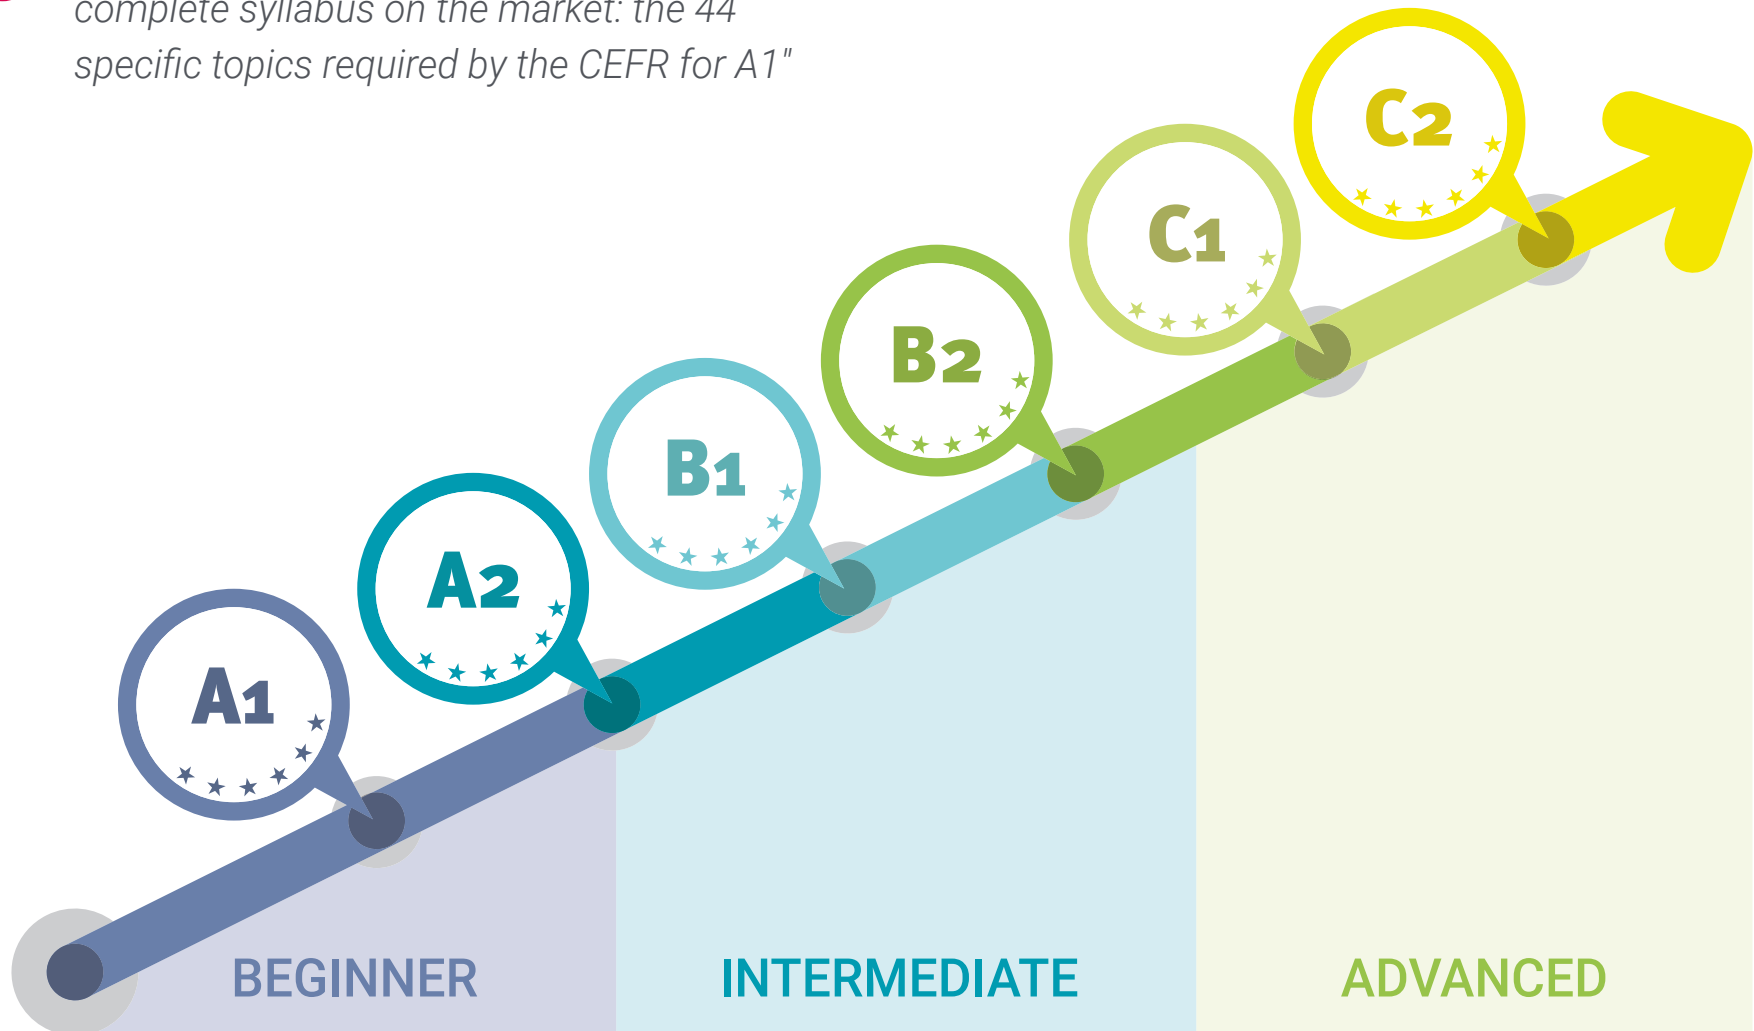

Learn Chinese and make the most of it by accrediting it with an official qualification based on the CEFR.

Other private language certification systems require students to periodically recertify their level of proficiency. TECH's CEFR certificate gives you a diploma for life.

Contains the most comprehensive and complete syllabus on the market: the 44 specific topics required by the CEFR for A1”

03

What Is Level A1?

Level A1 is part of the Beginner Level, which is divided into two courses: First and Second Beginner Level (A1 and A2). The first course covers the requirements of the A1 proficiency level as established by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, the only system in the European Union for recognizing and accrediting language proficiency and the only diploma that has official validity and is requested by universities, companies, competitive examinations, etc.

You will learn the basics of Chinese by enrolling in this 100% online Language Course”

What are the A1 Level Skills?

At this level, as defined by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages, students progress in language skills to develop what are considered "Basic User" skills with the ability to:

01

Understand and use common everyday expressions and simple sentences to satisfy immediate needs

Improve your skills in this language and certify your level quickly and easily thanks to everything you will learn in this excellent program offered by TECH"

02

Interact in an elementary way as long as the interlocutor speaks slowly and clearly and is willing to cooperate

03

Introduce yourself and others, ask for and give basic personal information about your address, your belongings, and people you know

A1 level Self-Assessment Chart

What will I be able to do after completing the course?

Level A1 (Access) is considered to be the lowest level of general language use, the point at which learners can interact in a simple way, can ask and answer questions about themselves, about where they live, about the people they know and the things they have, can make simple statements in areas of immediate need or on very everyday topics and can respond to such questions when they are put to them, rather than simply relying on a very limited, rehearsed and lexically organized repertoire of phrases used in specific situations.

Comprehension

Listening Comprehension

- ◆ Recognize very basic, commonly-used words and expressions relating to themselves, their family and their immediate environment when spoken slowly and clearly

Reading Comprehension

- ◆ Understand familiar words and names and very simple phrases, e.g., those found on signs, posters, and catalogs

Speaking

Oral Interaction

- ◆ Participate in a simple conversation, as long as the other person is willing to repeat what they have said or say it in other words and at a slower speed, and help them formulate what they are trying to say
- ◆ Ask and answer simple questions on topics of immediate need or very common issues

Oral Expression

- ◆ Use simple expressions and phrases to describe the place where they live and the people they know

Writing

Written Expression

- ◆ Write short, simple postcards, e.g., to send greetings.
- ◆ Fill in forms with personal data, e.g. name, nationality and address on a hotel registration form

Check your level. Assess yourself. More than 400 multiple-choice questions for continuous evaluation.

TECH helps students to obtain their qualification with an intensive training program that is based 100% on the CEFR"

Qualitative aspects of spoken language usage for Level A1

(According to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages)

What is expected to be achieved with this level?

Scope

- ◆ Possess a basic repertoire of simple words and phrases related to personal information and specific situations

Correction

- ◆ Showcase limited control of a few simple grammatical structures and sentence patterns within a memorized repertoire

Fluency

- ◆ Manage very brief, isolated and prepared expressions, using pauses to search for expressions, articulate less common words and correct communication

Interaction

- ◆ Ask and answer questions related to personal data
- ◆ Participate in a conversation in a simple way, but communication must be based entirely on repetition, rephrasing and correction of sentences

Coherence

- ◆ Linking words or groups of words with very basic and linear connectors such as "and" and "then"

Download and practice vocabulary: more than 50 pages of lexical cards and glossaries.

- Pre-test activities: in order to consolidate the concepts developed throughout the syllabus by reiterating them

Skills-based Practice

If the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages establishes the consolidation of a language through the acquisition of skills and bases its official tests on these skills, why don't most of the online preparation courses for the level certificate work according to skills? At TECH, you will work on all the skills established by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages in each of the units through an innovative method that is 100% adapted to European guidelines. In this program we work according to skills, with more than 200 different activities in order to prepare you to obtain your official Chinese A1 certificate

Presentation Videos and Objectives

The only training program in which you will find detailed objectives and skills per unit in video format explained by a native teacher

Summary Videos of Each Unit

At the end of each unit, you will find a video summary in which a native teacher will reiterate and emphasize the most important points

Simulated Learning Scenarios

At TECH, we believe in the importance of linguistic immersion to lay the foundations of a language as well as in storytelling to favor identification and first-person learning. Therefore, we present you with real and everyday situations with people like you who will face a new language and have to overcome all different kinds of problems. In this training program you will find more than 130 everyday situations, stories and video dialogues recorded by experts and native speakers

Specific Virtual Classes for CEFR A1

Are you ready for the exam? Our native teachers will explain to you all the tips and tricks you can use to pass the course with total guarantee of success, as well as the subjects you need to prepare better, the exercises that appear most frequently, mistakes to avoid, resources that can help you in certain situations, etc. All this prepared on video for you to consult when and as you wish

Our Methodology

The TECH program is an intensive preparation course to obtain the A1 Chinese certificate, based 100% on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR). For this purpose, we use a method in which the student works intensively and repeatedly on all the contents required by the CEFR, thoroughly preparing them to pass the test.

In no other course will you find pre-test knowledge activation questions, lesson tests, grammar tests, a final test and specific practice of CEFR skills in each unit"

The TECH Global University method

Conventional methods of teaching a second language, such as demonstrative classes or mechanical exercises, slow down learning and seriously affect student motivation, as confirmed by statistical data reflecting the failure of the traditional system and methodology.

TECH's A1 Chinese Language Course offers you a revolutionary method to comprehensively prepare for the level certification test. Our goal is to strengthen your skills in a changing, real and multicultural context, and thus guarantee your success in passing the level exam. To this end, we emulate the official test using mock tests throughout the course.

The student will learn through activities, stories and real contexts, the resolution of everyday and basic communication situations in simulated learning environments and will face real mock exams to prepare intensively for the level certification test. These simulations are developed using state-of-the-art software to facilitate immersive learning.

...All of this is enhanced with the best 100% online teaching methodology: Relearning...

Our school is the first in the world to combine storytelling with a 100% online learning system based on repetition, which combines different elements that represent an evolution with respect to the simple study and performance of exercises.

TECH offers you the highest quality and quantity in the academic landscape, with hundreds of exercises and resources for you to keep improving your level step by step.

This methodology, at the forefront of world teaching, is called Relearning. Our language school is the first licensed to employ this successful method, having managed, in 2015, to improve the overall satisfaction levels (teaching quality, quality of materials, course structure, objectives, etc.) of the students who complete the courses with respect to the indicators of the best language courses on the market.

The overall score obtained by our learning system is 8.01, according to the highest international standards.

Relearning Methodology

In TECH's Intensive A1 Chinese Language Course, learning is not a linear process, but rather a spiral (we learn– unlearn (forget) and relearn). Therefore, we combine each of these elements concentrically.

With this methodology we have trained more than 35,000 university graduates with unprecedented success, in fields as diverse as Biochemistry, Genetics, Surgery, International Law, Management Skills or Financial Markets and Instruments. All this in a highly demanding environment, where the students have a strong socio-economic profile and an average age of 42 years.

...with a personalized and expert-led training itinerary...

In order to promote maximum contact with the Language School, we provide you with a tutor so that you can write essays, answer your questions or study recommendations.

Our system will allow you to organize your time and learning pace, adapting it to your schedule, and will also allow you to access the contents from any device with an internet connection (computer, tablet, smartphone)”

According to the latest scientific evidence in the field of neuroscience, not only do we know how to organize information, ideas, images, memories, but we know that the place and context where we have learned something is fundamental for us to be able to remember it and store it in the hippocampus and retain it in our long-term memory. In this way, and in what is called Neurocognitive Context-Dependent Learning, the different elements of our intensive Chinese A1 Language Course are connected to the context in which the participant will take their certification exam in order to guarantee success on the day of the test.

...and all this with the best learning materials at the forefront of technology and pedagogy...

Course Objectives

The A1 Chinese Language Course is entirely designed for the student to acquire the skills required to take the exam that certifies their level and to pass it through practice, training, repetition and personalized monitoring, thanks to their effort and the pedagogical excellence of the TECH method. At the end of the program, the student will be able to certify their A1 Level and continue to advance in the study of the language.

Practice the skills and competencies required by the A1 CEFR with guarantees: more than 240 different practice exercises”

General Objectives

01

Solve simple communicative tasks and perform the basic functions of these tasks, both in an educational environment and in everyday situations

02

Interact and express themselves in these situations in an incipient but adequate manner in a standard oral and written language register

03

Define the most relevant social aspects of everyday life situations and recognize the most common forms of social relationships

04

Use the linguistic resources necessary to get by in basic communication situations

05

Develop resources and tools that enable them to assess and improve their own learning and use of the language

Specific Objectives

Oral Comprehension

- Understand speech that is very slow, carefully articulated and with enough pauses to assimilate the meaning
- Understand instructions that are explained slowly and carefully, and be able to follow directions if they are simple and short

Reading Comprehension

- Understand very short and simple texts, reading sentence by sentence, picking up basic and common names, words and phrases, and rereading as needed
- Understand short and simple messages on postcards
- Recognize names, words and very basic phrases that appear on signs and in the most common situations
- Understand the meaning of simple informative written material and short and simple descriptions, especially if there is visual support
- Understand written directions if they are short and simple (e.g., how to get from one place to another)

Written Expression

- Ask for and provide information about personal details in writing
- Write short and simple postcards
- Write numbers and dates, their name, nationality, address, age, date of birth or date of arrival in a country, as is done, for example, in a hotel registration book

Oral Expression

- Engage in conversations in a straightforward manner, but communication is totally dependent on slower-paced repetitions, rephrasing and rectifications
- Ask and answer simple questions, make simple statements, and respond to statements made to them in areas of immediate need or on very everyday topics
- Understand common expressions aimed at satisfying simple, everyday needs as long as the interlocutor collaborates by addressing them in clear, slow speech and repeats what they do not understand
- Understand questions and instructions addressed to them clearly and slowly, understand simple and brief directions
- Introduce themselves and use basic greetings and farewell expressions. Ask how people are doing and express their reactions to the news
- Understand everyday expressions aimed at satisfying simple concrete needs provided that the speaker collaborates by addressing them in clear, slow speech and repeats what they do not understand
- Understand questions and instructions if spoken slowly and carefully, and understand short, simple directions on how to get to a place
- Be able to ask someone for something, and vice versa
- Good command of numbers, quantities, prices and schedules
- Make time indications using phrases such as, for example, "next week, last Friday, in November, at three o'clock"
- Respond to simple and direct questions about personal details, if spoken very slowly and clearly without idioms or set phrases

Specific Objectives

Sociocultural and Sociolinguistic Competence

- Become familiar with the most relevant social aspects of everyday life situations, as well as with those related to their own field, which will result in the basic adaptation of their behavior to these situations and in the understanding or adequate use of the lexicon and functional exponents
- Recognize and use the most common forms of social relations and treatment, within a standard register. In regular social situations, recognize and use the usual forms of address used to greet, say goodbye, address someone, give thanks, apologize, ask permission, take an interest in people and respond to an offer
- Understand the behaviors and values that are different from one's own and that underlie the most evident and everyday socio-cultural aspects

Linguistic Competence

- Manage a basic repertoire of vocabulary and expressions related to the most common situations and functions foreseen in the curriculum
- Develop a very limited control of linguistic resources, with systematic errors that usually occur at this level

The syllabus can be downloaded in convenient PDFs that, together, add up to more than 400 pages of content”

Did you know?

Communicative competence is not merely limited to the knowledge and ability to use the linguistic code, but has other broader dimensions, which place it in direct relation with other competences such as information processing and digital competence, learning to learn, social and civic competence, or cultural and artistic competence.

This implies a cultural immersion that is only possible to recreate in the online format through simulated scenarios, storytelling, videos and real situations.

Only TECH offers videos with the 130 specific situations required to master the CEFR A1.

Course Structure and Content

TECH, together with native Chinese teachers, have carefully elaborated all the contents of this Language Course. This gives it a unique quality and precision, since the student is prepared in the most essential contents of the language to begin to understand and comprehend it. In addition, all the content of the Language Course is downloadable, so it can even be consulted offline from any device, making it easy to study whenever and wherever you want.

Where, When and How is it Taught?

This course takes place over 4 months and is divided into 11 content modules. You can do it completely online, even attending our sessions and tutorials.

You will find the main topics of grammar, vocabulary, oral expression and written expression required for CEFR Level A1"

"Asian culture always attracted me and I chose Chinese as an entry language as it gives access to other regions such as Hong Kong or Taiwan. It is difficult at first, but thanks to TECH's help I was able to pass the A1 exam without any problems. I'm now at A2 level and looking forward to jumping right into B1!"

Magdalena Benítez

Language student

"It was clear to me that I could grow professionally by including Chinese as a strong language on my resume. This TECH Language Course gave me the keys and flexibility I needed to combine my job at that time with gradually raising my level from A1"

The Professional Benefits of Chinese

The Chinese language, the highest expression of Chinese culture, based on symbols, is more than 5,000 years old and gives rise to more than 55 languages and 2,000 dialects as a result of its geographical, phonetic and dialectical variants. Mandarin Chinese is the official language of the People's Republic of China and is also spoken in countries such as Cambodia, Burma, Indonesia, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, Thailand and Taiwan.

Mandarin Chinese is an original Beijing dialect which, according to official statistics, is the most widely spoken language in the world with more than 1.3 billion speakers. It is one of the six official languages of the United Nations (UN) along with Arabic, English, French, Russian, Spanish and French.

Nowadays, it seems essential in the multicultural and global society in which we live to broaden our knowledge and teaching of the Chinese language, to know its language, habits and customs, which will lead us to improve our international and commercial relations, to close economic agreements and to establish direct contact with Chinese citizens.

China is in fashion. Its spectacular growth is increasingly attracting Spanish entrepreneurs who are looking for an opportunity in the Asian colossus. But doing business in China can be a nightmare if you are not prepared. The cultural differences are so vast that they extend to all aspects of the business world: negotiation, contracts, legislation or a simple working dinner. For this reason, guanxi or social relations should also be studied.

Understanding the cultural context of communication is fundamental to successfully decoding a message”

12 Assessment and Certification

The main evaluation objective of TECH'S assessment is that students consolidate what they have learned and are aware of their progress. That is why, after completing each block, the student is shown a results report that visually indicates the skills that they should reinforce in the online classes.

TECH'S A1 Language Course is the only one that also awards you with a university certificate”

Chinese A1 training course evaluation tests

The assimilation of the contents is constantly and progressively evaluated. To do so, the student must pass an automatically corrected evaluation test at the end of each module and a final test that covers all the contents of the level.

Its main objective is for the student to consolidate what they have learned and to be aware of their progress, for this reason, after the evaluation test is completed, the student is shown a report of the results.

Only TECH will award students, upon successful completion of the course, a university certificate”

Training course evaluation criteria

- Communicative effectiveness: comprehensibility, fulfillment of expected functions, accuracy, sociolinguistic appropriateness
- Interactive and speaking skills: responsiveness and cooperation, coherence of ideas, organization, relevant and sufficient development
- Use of language: linguistic resources, formal elements of cohesion and fluency.
- Formal correction: grammar, discourse cohesion, vocabulary and pronunciation

If you pass our course, you will obtain an A1 Chinese language qualification from TECH.

The certificate, which indicates successful completion of the course, will state the language studied and the level passed, according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

The certificate issued by TECH Global University only provides "pass" or "fail" as grading options, and does not express a numerical grade. Before receiving the certificate, you will be emailed a form to verify your data.

The CEFR A1 Chinese Language Course is an intensive course lasting a maximum of 6 months.

Certification

At the end of the course the student will receive a certificate of recognition that confirms that they are prepared to obtain official certification for this level.
