Introduction

Teachers, psychologists, and experts in teaching languages believe that the best way to stimulate learning English is not to subject students to formalized and linear methodologies -for example, rote learning - but to encourage imagination and learning through sensory exploration to be able to understand and interpret the world around us.

This allows the brain to work and learn a second language in the most natural way possible, in the same way that we learned our mother tongue.

With this program of personalized conversation classes, you will learn to communicate correctly in everyday situations, in frequent contexts. A unique opportunity to train with the best native teachers.

You will have more than 500 different activities and we will thoroughly prepare you to obtain your B2 English certificate.

With this program you will be able to understand the main ideas of complex texts, even if they are of a technical nature.

02
Is it Important to Obtain a Language Certificate?

In today's competitive world, speaking other languages is a key part of our modern culture, helping us to expand our knowledge and interact with people from other parts of the world, which helps us to learn about the traditions of other countries, establish friendships or conduct business.

However, simply knowing foreign languages is not enough in modern society. Nowadays, students must have an official qualification that accredits and recognizes their proficiency in a given language. In fact, many schools, universities and companies only accept candidates who have an official qualification based on the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (CEFR).

" The ability to communicate effectively in another language and accredit it with an official CEFR qualification is an essential requirement for your academic and professional development. TECH helps you achieve it with intensive 100% CEFR training"

TECH Global University

The Common European Framework of Reference for Languages is the only officially recognized and accredited system for assessing a student's level of proficiency. Although there are other certification systems, these come from private institutions and are, therefore, not officially valid. The CEFR establishes a single criterion to determine the difficulty of the courses and awards certificates that are recognized throughout the European Union.

At TECH we offer you the only intensive program designed to prepare you to obtain your official certificate based 100% on the CEFR, the only official system recognized and accepted throughout Europe.
Finally learn to speak fluent English and make the most of it by accrediting it with an official qualification based on the CEFR.

Other private language certification systems require students to periodically recertify their level of proficiency. TECH's CEFR certificate is valid for life.

With this program you will have all the content and skills you need to pass the B2 Level"

03
What Is Level B2?

Level B2 is part of the Independent User Level, which is divided into two sub-levels: First and Second Independent User Level (B1 and B2).

The B2 Level has two main features: the first is the ability to maintain interaction and make oneself understood in a variety of situations, for example: learners generally understand the main ideas of extended discussions around them, provided the speech is clearly articulated at a standard language level; offer and ask for opinions in an informal discussion with friends; clearly express the main idea they want to get across; flexibly use broad, simple language to express much of what they want; are able to carry on a conversation or discussion, but can sometimes be difficult to understand when trying to say exactly what they mean; express themselves understandably, although they pause for some grammatical and lexical planning, and some mistake-correcting is evident, especially in long periods language flow.

The second feature is the ability to know how to deal flexibly with everyday problems, such as, for example: coping with less common situations in public transport, the typical situations that often arise when making travel reservations through an agency or when traveling; participates in conversations on usual matters without having anticipated it; being able to raise complaints; taking the initiative in an interview or consultation (e.g., knows how to initiate a new topic), although still being noticeably dependent on the interviewer during the interaction; knowing how to ask someone to clarify or develop what he or she has just said.

In TECH's B2 English Individual Online Conversation Classes program we thoroughly prepare you to obtain your official B2 English certificate"

What are the B2 Level Skills?

01 It is the ability to understand the main ideas in complex texts which deal with both concrete and abstract topics, even if they are of a technical nature, as long as they are within their field of expertise

02 You can interact with native speakers with a sufficient degree of fluency and naturalness, so that communication is effortless for the interlocutors

Improve your skills in this language and certify your level quickly and easily thanks to everything you will learn in this excellent program offered by TECH"

03 You can produce clear and detailed texts on a range of diverse topics, as well as defend your point of view on general topics, indicating the pros and cons or different options

B2 level Self-Assessment Chart

General objectives

01 Understand, interact and express yourself in an extensive range of situations, both orally and written, with good control of linguistic resources and with a degree of precision and ease that allows for natural communication with native speakers

02 Acquire deeper knowledge of sociocultural aspects related to these situations and alter your register, attitudes and gestures appropriately in each situation

03 Internalize new linguistic resources through functional and formal practice and to reinforce the use of those already known; to reflect on mistakes in order to be able to correct yourself

04 Become aware of the communication and learning strategies that help you the most, so that you can use them intentionally

05 Develop autonomy in the planning, carrying out, evaluation and improvement of your own learning

Specific objectives

Oral Comprehension

- Understand the main ideas of a linguistically complex speech, dealing with both concrete and abstract topics delivered at a standard language level, including technical discussions within their field of expertise

- Understand long speeches and complex lines of reasoning as long as the subject matter is reasonably familiar and the development of the speech is facilitated by explicit markers

- Understand any type of speech, both face-to-face conversations and broadcast speeches, on topics, usual or not, of personal, social, academic or professional life. Only excessive background noise, inadequate structuring of speech or idiomatic use of language affect their ability to understand

- Pick up with some effort much of what is being said around them, but may find it difficult to participate effectively in a discussion with several native speakers if they do not modify their speech in some way

- Follow lively conversations between native speakers

- Understand the main ideas of linguistically complex lectures, talks and reports, and other forms of academic and professional presentation

- Understand statements and messages on concrete and abstract topics, in standard language and at a normal pace

- Understand most radio documentaries and other recorded or rebroadcast material spoken in standard language, and identify the speaker's mood and tone

- Understand recordings in standard language that may be encountered in social, professional or academic life and identify the speaker's points of view and attitudes, as well as the content of the information

Oral Expression

- Participate in conversations with a degree of fluency and spontaneity that enables regular interaction with native speakers without strain for either party. Emphasize the personal importance of certain facts and experiences, express and defend points of view with clarity, providing adequate explanations and arguments

- Speak fluently, accurately and effectively on a wide range of general, academic, professional or leisure topics, clearly marking the relationship between ideas. Communicates spontaneously and has good grammatical control without showing many signs of having to restrict what he/she says and adopting a level of formality appropriate to the circumstances

- Understand in detail what is said in standard language, even in an environment with background noise

- Approach extensive conversations on most general topics, even in a noisy environment, in a clearly participatory manner

- Have conversations with native speakers without unintentionally amusing or annoying them, and without demanding different behavior from them than they would have with a native speaker

- Convey a certain emotion and highlight the personal importance of facts and experiences

- Follow the rhythm of lively discussions between native speakers. Express ideas and opinions with precision, present complex lines of argument convincingly and respond to them

- Take an active part in informal discussions that occur in everyday situations by making comments, clearly expressing their points of view, evaluating alternative proposals, making hypotheses and responding to them

- With some effort, pick up much of what is said in discussions going on around them, but may find it difficult to participate effectively in discussions with several native speakers if they do not modify their speech in some way

- Express and uphold their opinions in discussions by providing appropriate explanations, arguments, and comments

- Keep up with heated discussions and accurately identify the arguments of different points of view. Express ideas and opinions with precision, present complex lines and respond to them with conviction

- Understand, with complete certainty, detailed instructions. Contribute to the progress of the work by inviting others to participate, speak up, etc.

- Outline an issue or problem clearly, speculating on the causes or consequences and comparing the advantages and disadvantages of different approaches

- Negotiate the resolution of conflicts, such as claiming an unfair traffic fine, claiming financial responsibility for damages caused in an apartment or for culpability in an accident

- Express their opinions in the event of damages, using persuasive language to claim compensation and clearly establish the limits of any concession they are willing to make

- Explain a problem that has arisen and make it clear that the service provider or customer must make concessions

- Understand and exchange complex information and advice on all matters related to their profession. Communicates detailed information with complete certainty

- Make clear and detailed descriptions of how to carry out a procedure. Synthesize and communicate information and arguments from a variety of sources

- Conduct effective and fluent interviews, even spontaneously departing from prepared questions, following the thread and giving interesting answers

- Take the initiative in an interview and expand and develop their ideas, either with little help or getting it if needed from the interviewer

Specific Objectives

Sociocultural and Sociolinguistic Competence

- Broaden and diversify your knowledge of sociocultural aspects of communities where they speak the language, acquiring a natural and confident manner of speaking, which doesn't attract attention nor leads to special treatment, different to that given to native speakers. Furthermore, gain knowledge of how to adjust your behavior, reactions, attitude, message and wording to any changes in situation, style and emphasis

- Identify the most prominent aspects of a variety of frequent formal and informal registers; oral and written Use expressions, pronunciation and intonation in the most common registers and those one is in most contact with

- Perceive the differentiating characteristics of the Italian language pattern in relation to other widespread or nearby patterns

Linguistic Competence

- Manage a wide and varied repertoire of linguistic resources, including complex syntax and textual grammar, in order to approach, with naturalness, precision, clarity and cohesion, texts on a wide range of situations and topics, almost without showing that he/she has to limit what he/she wants to say

- Adapt flexibly to changes in direction, register and emphasis, although hesitations and circumlocutions may still occur

- Effectively use a variety of connectors and discourse markers to clearly signal connections between ideas and to link discourse in a flexible and effective manner

- Possess good control of linguistic resources with few faults. When using complex structures, especially in discourse development, and even more so in oral communication or in less common situations, there are sometimes cohesion or inappropriate register mistakes, as well as sporadic slips or some "resistant" errors in less commonly controlled situations. In these cases, the student will be capable of self-correcting

In TECH's CEFR B2 Language Course, you will find more than 300 activities focused on pronunciation and phonetics to help you prepare for the A1 test"

The Professional Benefits of English

Today, English is a universal language, it is almost mandatory at the professional level in all parts of the world, it is fundamental in any area of personal or professional life: it is the language used in the economic field, international trade, tourism, certificatecy, industry, etc. Everything is written, spoken and read in English nowadays; it has become the second preferred language in the world. In the globalized world in which we live, it is the tool that enables communication with people from all countries.

English is the language most widely used as a first or second language, the former by some 400 million people worldwide, while an estimated 2 billion people are learning it as a second language. With this, in less than a decade, English will be spoken by 3 billion people, almost half of the Earth's total population. In this sense, there is no doubt that it will become (if it is not already) a fundamental requirement for accessing a large part of job offers, scholarships, university careers, business, etc.

English will give us access to a better education and, therefore, the possibility of a better job. Our job opportunities will multiply as soon as we master the language. Whether in governmental areas or in multinational companies, regardless of the field of work, English will always bring advantages when it comes to promotion or access to another job, helping to improve the current employment situation of the person who masters it.

Another important reason to learn English is that we will be able to access a better education, without limiting ourselves to universities or training centers in our own country. It will also give us access to more current and complete information, we will learn about the latest advances and we will be able to access most scientific, academic and technological texts written in English. According to a study more than 56% of Internet sites are published in English.

Today, English is the universal language, it is almost compulsory in the job market everywhere in the world, and it is fundamental in any area of personal or professional life"
